Short Company presentation (R & D guidelines, international activities, etc.)

Cotech Saúde is a Brazilian healthtech company focused on the development of digital health, clinical intelligence, telemedicine and patient monitoring solutions. The company works on R&D initiatives combining healthcare services, artificial intelligence, clinical data, remote care, biometric screening and digital platforms for patients, physicians, pharmacies and healthcare organizations.

DESCRIPTION OF ITS TECHNOLOGY AND CAPABILITIES IN R & D (Products, technologies, applications, services, etc.)

Cotech Saúde develops and integrates digital health technologies focused on remote healthcare delivery, clinical intelligence and patient monitoring. Its capabilities include telemedicine platforms, AI-based triage and patient guidance, clinical dashboards, digital medical records, automated reports, health risk stratification, remote biometric screening and data-driven tools for healthcare providers and organizations. The company's portfolio includes solutions for telemedicine, optical biomarker screening using rPPG technology, AI voice-based clinical triage, patient and physician portals, digital health programs, remote follow-up protocols, pharmacy-based healthcare services, and administrative dashboards for monitoring clinical indicators, patient journeys and population health data. Cotech Saúde's R&D capacity is centered on the design of scalable health platforms, integration of clinical workflows, development of digital care models, application of artificial intelligence in healthcare support, creation of user-centered interfaces, and implementation of technologies that can be adapted to different healthcare systems and regulatory environments. Its technologies may be applied in primary care, corporate health, pharmacy-based care, metabolic health programs, remote monitoring, preventive health, clinical screening and healthcare access expansion.

PROPOSED COLLABORATIVE PROJECT IN R & D

(As much detail as possible, both in what it offers and what you want in a potential partner)

Cotech Saúde proposes the co-development of an integrated digital health platform for remote care, clinical intelligence and patient monitoring, designed to improve access to healthcare and support better clinical decision-making in Brazil and international markets.

The proposed R&D project aims to combine telemedicine, artificial intelligence, remote patient monitoring, clinical data analysis, digital care pathways and biometric screening into a scalable platform for patients, physicians, pharmacies, companies and healthcare organizations.

The solution may be applied in primary care, preventive health, chronic disease monitoring, metabolic health, corporate health programs and pharmacy-based healthcare services. Cotech Saúde can offer international partners its expertise in digital health business models, healthcare workflows, telemedicine operations, patient engagement, clinical service integration, AI-supported triage concepts, remote monitoring protocols, Brazilian and Latin American market knowledge, and experience in building healthtech solutions for emerging markets.

The company is looking for international partners with complementary technologies and R&D capabilities, especially in areas such as artificial intelligence, machine learning, clinical decision support, medical devices, digital biomarkers, wearable sensors, rPPG/optical biomarker technologies, interoperability with electronic health records, cybersecurity, data protection, clinical validation, regulatory compliance and scalable software architecture.

The expected result of the collaboration is the development and validation of a high value-added digital health solution with international market potential, capable of supporting remote care, early risk identification, clinical follow-up, population health insights and more efficient healthcare delivery.

Cotech Saúde is interested in partners willing to collaborate on technology development, pilot projects, clinical validation, market adaptation, regulatory strategy and commercialization in Brazil, Europe and Latin America.
